ABOUT ME

I'm Arton Ramadani, a software engineer with a strong affinity for back-end technologies like Node.js, MySQL, and MongoDB. Equally passionate about front-end development, I take pride in crafting compelling user interfaces and seamless user experiences. I am dedicated to honing my skills as a Node.JS and React.JS Developer. Beyond coding, I am keenly interested in Linux and diverse tech topics, fostering a holistic understanding of the ever-evolving tech landscape. I aim to contribute effectively as a well-rounded developer, seamlessly bridging the realms of backend and front end.
